Root Liriope

The name of Root Liriope is originated from its characteristics that its root is similar to that of barley and its leaves are not withered in winter. In the ancient Chinese literature, Root Liriope is recorded like "the thick root of it is similar to that of barley so we call it Root liriope".

■ Effect of liriope

1. Improvement of lung health

For a long time, Root liriope has been used as a medicine to protect lung. In particular, children who are susceptible to cold can protect their lung with Root liriope. Root liriope helps prevent and treat lung related diseases including tuberculosis.

2. Improvement of lung health

For a long time, Root liriope has been used as a medicine to protect lung. In particular, children who are susceptible to cold can protect their lung with Root liriope. Root liriope helps prevent and treat lung related diseases including tuberculosis.

3. Restoration from weakness

Root liriope is good for boosting energy level to the extent that it can revive the dead pulse. During the days where there was no energy drink like today, Root liriope was used as a natural energy booster. If those who are weak or have low energy level with weak pulse or those who are susceptible to trivial diseases due to aging take Root liriope tea continuously, they can improve their health and prevent weakness of physical health.

4. Treatment of diabetes

Root liriope is effective in reducing blood sugar level and preventing diabetes. Continuous taking of Root liriope tea may lead to gradual reduction of blood sugar level. As a civil therapy, Root liriope is used to quench the thirst caused by diabetes.

5. Helping diuretic effect

The effect of Root liriope on diuretic effect is verified in the medical test and those who cannot urinate well usually can be satisfied with diuretic effect and those who suffer from the feeling of residual urine can be freed from the symptom. In addition, it helps make blood clean helping diuretic effect.

6. Treatment of respiratory diseases

Root liriope is very effective in treating respiratory diseases. It improves the lung function, removes sputum from bronchial tubes and stops dry cough. In addition it helps treat the respiratory diseases including chronic bronchial trouble.

7. Treatment and relief of chronic gastritis

Root liriope helps treat and relieve chronic gastritis. It stabilizes stomach by removing the fever from it and helps generation of juice within the stomach. The juice generated relieves the pain from gastritis and protects the stomach helping the treatment of chronic gastritis. However, it is better for those who have cold stomach not to take Root liriope as it has an effect of reducing fever.
