It is also used as a humectant because of its ability to draw and hold water.

2. Enhancing lipid barrier

The lipid barriers in the epidermis slow down as we get older.

Hyaluronic Acid can help the skin strengthen the natural barriers and remain less wrinkled, brighter, and bouncier longer.

3. Repairing a compromised moisture barrier: Rebalancing skin & Anti-inflammatory

The amino acid can help your skin tissues maintain firm and resilient by promoting the production of collagen which prevent the skin from aging and getting thinner.

2. Hydrating the skin

By combining with the water molecules, the amino acid can greatly increase moisture in the skin.

It can also help protect skin moisture barriers by balancing pH levels.

#Skin Moisturization

The skin has natural moisturizing factors such as amino acids and sugars in the stratum corneum to contain moisture, which plays a central role in maintaining moisture in the stratum corneum.

#Skin Elasticity

Supplementing plenty of amino acids such as glycine, proline and alanine, the raw materials of collagen and elastin, helps collagen biosynthesis and plays an important role in maintaining skin elasticity.

#Prevent Pigmentation

Among the amino acids, asparagine, tyrosine, and serine are the ingredients of the enzymes necessary for cell division, which actively stimulate the metabolism of the skin and help prevent aging by removing the dullness of the skin.

#Exfoliation Effect

It is effective for exfoliating skin and has a good effect on improving skin texture.

[JEJU VOLCANIC SCORIA]

■ What is Jeju Volcanic Scoria(Jeju Volcanic Ash)?

It is called Scoria, which means light stone in the Jeju dialect.

(Scoria is a volcanic product made of porous structures with numerous microholes.)

In the event of a volcano eruption over several million years to thousands of years, clay is a stone charcoal made by extreme heat. It is a mineral that is a unique natural underground resource only in the Jeju region and is a weak alkaline resource similar to human blood.

Thanks to its microscopic holes, it has a natural adsorption power that is six times stronger than charcoal and can help cleanse the skin by adsorbing sebum and waste products.

It is composed of a weakly alkaline natural mineral component that emits a large amount of good far-infrared rays, such as "sulfur soil (Red soil)", and is also effective for purifying and moisturizing the skin.

■ Effect

- ✓ Removes waste from skin membranes and improves problematic skin
- ✓ Excellent cleaning effect
- ✓ Powerful pores convergence effect for elasticity and pores reduction
- ✓ Moisturizing effect prevents skin dryness
- ✓ Excellent for waste removal due to high processing in crystals
- ✓ The Effect of Charcoal and Red Soil
